

Advocate, MD Expands to Accommodate Company Growth

Advocate, MD Selects BurtWatts for New Office

June XX, 2007, Austin, TX— BurtWatts Industries, Inc., a leading Austin-based commercial general contracting firm, was hired by Advocate, MD Financial Group Inc. to design and build-out its new 8,500-square-foot Austin headquarters, located at 811 Barton Springs Road.

Advocate, MD, a leading, licensed medical liability carrier, has recently relocated to accommodate its current and future growth. The company has added many new employees in 2006 and expects to add several new positions to its team in the coming year. Advocate, MD required a space that not only accommodated their expanding team, but also represented the personality and culture of the company.

“BurtWatts worked with us to create a space that supports our organization’s needs,” said Heather Lastovica Advocate, MD. “From the beginning, their professional and responsive team has been focused on delivering a high-quality workplace designed for our company to meet our specific requirements.”

BurtWatts served as Advocate, MD’s general contractor, providing project management and finish-out services.

Continued Jennifer Hanke said, “Sarah Scott led the project’s design from BurtWatts and delivered impressive and dramatic results.”

Advocate, MD offers Risk Management services, claims-made and continuous policies, retroactive and tail coverage, and medical board defense to all medical specialties individually and in groups in all Texas counties.

Mark Adams, CEO and President of Advocate, MD, was recently a finalist in Ernst & Young’s prestigious Central Texas Entrepreneur of the Year Award program and recognized for his entrepreneurial leadership in the formation of Advocate, MD. The Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year awards recognize the leaders and visionaries who are creating and building world-class businesses.
